Classes will be (circle one): Pass/Fail What is the criteria for passing the class?

Students will participate in class, working to expand their proficiency in multiple aspects of recording studio production.

Briefly describe the course, including topics to be covered and subject areas that the course will cover –this is what will be posted on our website:

This class picks up where INTRO TO RECORDING STUDIO leaves off.

Musicians, vocal actors, audio engineers and producers already familiar with the basics of sound recording will take their skills to the next level, developing their personal style and technical expertise in the studio.

Over the course of 8 two-hour sessions, students will work to plan and produce finely polished, professional-sounding completed projects that will be uploaded to the class's YouTube channel as a virtual recital for the world to enjoy.

Classes meet weekly at the instructor's home studio outside of Eau Claire, starting in mid January. Class times will be arranged with the instructor following registration.

Instructor: Jon Whidden is a local artist, teacher and homeschooling parent of 3 boys.

Weekly breakdown of instruction: (write on separate sheet if necessary)

Students should already be familiar with most of the equipment, but the first meeting will include a refresher tour of the studio and demonstrations of the software and hardware that will be used during the semester.

Although there will still be room for experimentation and exposure to new techniques, advanced students will be expected to focus on developing their personal production style, engineering proficiency and efficient use of their time in the studio.

All classes must have a min. of 4 Course Objective Checkpoints unique to your class. You will note on the attendance sheet when students have met these objectives. Write in #'s 2 and 3:

1st: pre-test

2nd: Create list of project parts and goals

3rd: Implement plan to complete projects.

4th: post-test and/or project/performance
